

Marketplace

Expand your market reach and reduce overhead with a marketplace.

Leverage a collaborative commerce platform with native marketplace and order management capabilities for rapid time-to-revenue.

Key Capabilities

Seller onboarding

Reduce the time and cost of adding sellers and SKUs with tools for onboarding, management, and product acceptance.

Global network of sellers

Expand your product assortment to sell products and services from +2500 VTEX sellers in more than 30 countries.

Product approval

Automate approval of seller submissions by defining rules for categories, brands, and products and automatically correlating sent SKUs with existing products.

Third-party marketplaces

Integrate your marketplace with third-party marketplaces and vice versa to tap into new markets and reach new customers.

Catalog preview

Preview and accept SKU submissions in bulk by associating them with existing products or by easily creating a new one. Filter and sort submissions by inventory availability, price, category, brand, and seller.

Order management

Orchestrate orders from multiple channels and distribute them to third-party sellers for fulfillment. Monitor the order lifecycle, and communicate order changes to customers.

Order splitting

Split a single purchase with products from multiple sellers into multiple orders, while the buyer only has to manage one cart and insert one payment method.

Multi-currency and multi-language

Expand your footprint with multiple storefronts to support different languages and easily manage local currencies and payment conditions.

Order reallocation

Ensure orders can be delivered, even if the original seller runs out of stock or cancels the order. Easily select a new third-party seller to fulfill the order while VTEX automatically reallocates payment.

Omnichannel ready

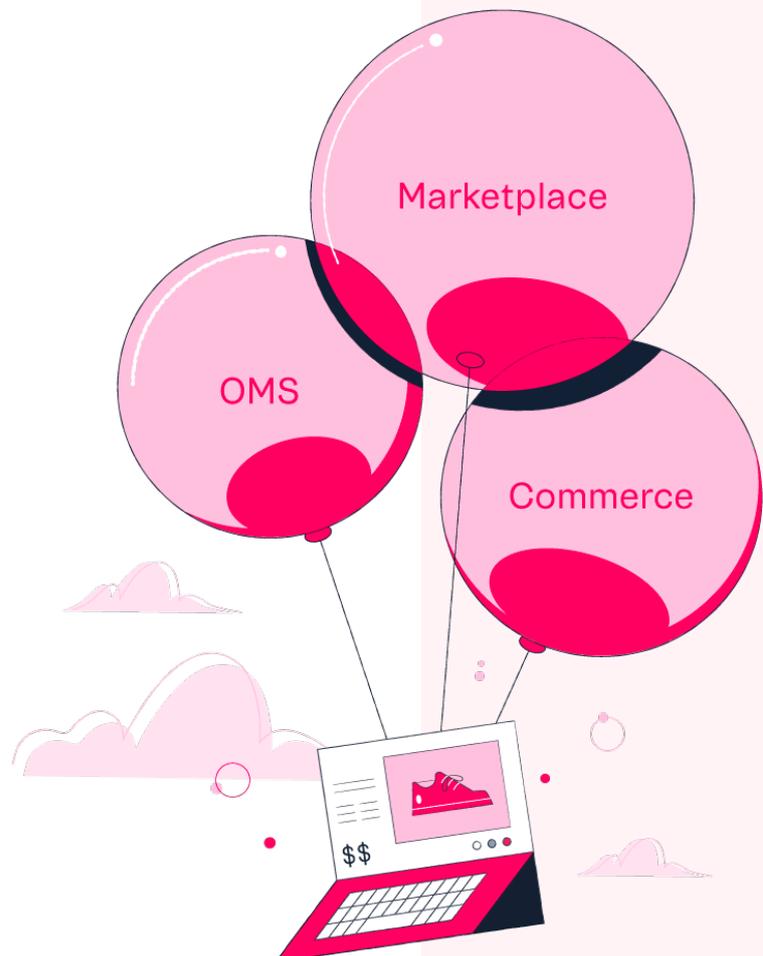

Deliver the click & collect experience by transforming merchant stores into pick-up points and create endless aisle experiences with our native inStore application.

Commission rules

Define commission rates at seller and category levels and make sure all commissions are calculated and charged correctly.

B2C, B2B, and physical store ready

Regardless of your industry, collaborate with suppliers and channel partners to expand product assortment and even allow them to sell inventory from multiple physical stores on your marketplace.

Benefits

Drive incremental revenue

Quickly and easily add new products and services from a myriad of third-party sellers.

Be essential to customers

Create a one-stop-shop for everything your customers need - marketplaces give buyers convenience, price transparency and more product and seller options across categories.

Expand your business globally

Leverage a network of established sellers around the world and run your business cross-border.

Eliminate channel conflict

Join with your suppliers and sales partners - dealers, distributors and resellers to eliminate channel conflict and create a seamless experience across the entire buyer journey.

Take control of your operation

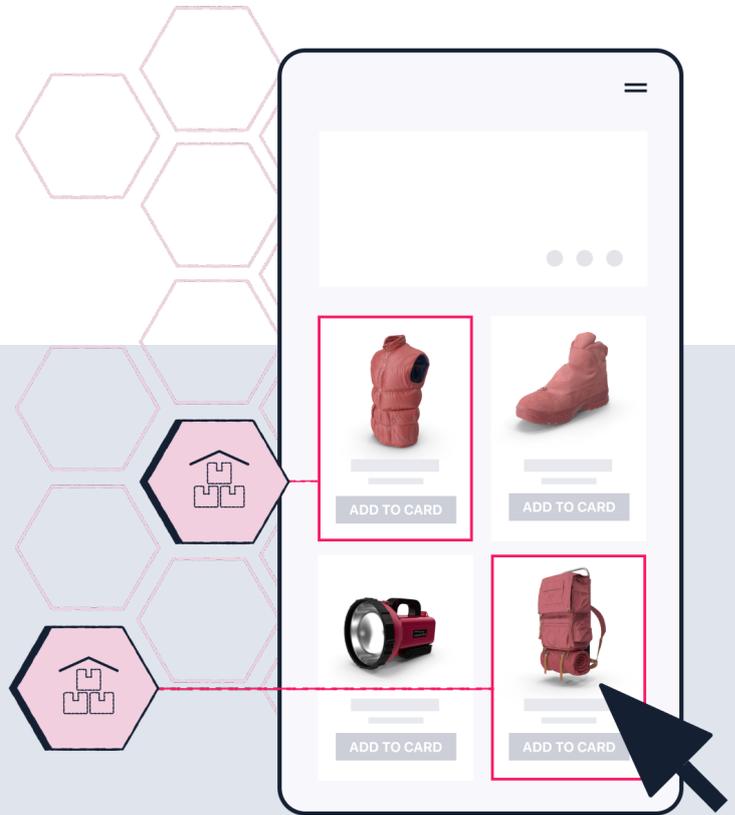

Reduce the time and cost of seller onboarding and management with automatic category mapping, logs, and suggestions to approve and refuse products at scale

Reduce cost and risk

Eliminate the additional inventory and supply chain costs of adding new brands and product categories to your portfolio.

Lower your TCO

A single SaaS platform for commerce, marketplace and order management means faster projects, less maintenance and no upgrades, ever.

VTEX provides the world's first and only fully integrated marketplace-commerce-oms solution
